Life has given me countless obstacles and one of them is my parents' divorce. Divorce by itself was a tragedy for me but experiencing it at a young age as an only child made it worse. The loneliness and psychological shock was too much for a 12 year old boy. However, challenges are only difficult when you start to think and believe that they are. I overcame my challenge by being an extrovert and learning to accept what is given to me. Family members are not the only ones who can give you love, care and joy. I learned this by my parents' divorce and solved my loneliness by making friends and interacting with others such as teachers. After all, I have my mom and tons of other important people who will never leave me lonely again. Also, I learned to accept my situation. Everyone is given 24 hours a day and how we use it changes our life. At 12, I figured this out and decided not to waste my time over moaning about the past and something that I can't change. Basically, I learned to move on. To sum up, I experienced loneliness and psychological shock by my parents' divorce, but I overcame it by being an extrovert and learning to accept what is given to me. Thus, I personally believe that every challenge is an opportunity for us to become a better individual.

Life, especially in a competitive society, is not easy for everyone. To overcome the challenge we face, we should understand ourselves and other people and improve the ability to lower our stress. Two years ago, I failed the big exam to enter university, so I had to study one more year to pass it. However, I had bad health, so I went to bed early every night and studied the rest of the time efficiently. Through this routine, I could know about the strength and weakness of my body, and could study more efficiently than before. Moreover, during that year, I was very keen because of the grade. Therefore, I often fought with my parents and friends. Thus, to solve this problem, I tried to understand them. Through that effort, we could become calm, and empathize with each other. Furthermore, I often felt a lot of stress because I didn't get high scores in some subjects. Therefore, to lower the stress, I didn't study on Sundays and rested all day long. In addition, I consulted with adults steadily, so I could remove some stress. I always found a way I could lower my stress, and this helped me find the best method to lower the stress for myself. In sum, various challenges we face sometimes make us feel stressed and lower our self-esteem; however, if we overcome the challenges, we can improve our ability to be a perfect person. Therefore, we should find a way to overcome our challenges whenever we face them, and we can be more positive and bright.

These days, it's a highly competitive society. Therefore, all that matters to people is achieving high scores. Also, the criteria for distinguishing the capability of doing something is based on whether you are smart or not. In this regard, there is an on-going debate on whether this stereotype method is a suitable way to evaluate children. However, I personally went through this inevitable Korean education system and got very stressed out during the severe process. The people in this country have a lack of interest for persuading children to find their dreams. In particular, when I was in my second year of high school, I had no specific goals for my future. Thus, I eventually ended up just staring out my window and couldn't focus on studying because I couldn't find the reason for all of this hard work. I asked for advice from my parents, but they would only constantly remind me that I would naturally find a path of my own if I study hard. These words were not helping me to straighten up. So I decided to give myself a break for a term, and instead of just studying I read a dozens of books and went to a great number of informative festivals. After all of this progress, I acknowledged that I wanted to be a software engineer and surprisingly, my grades got even better after finding this out. Once and for all, I would like to shout out to all the students that studying is not all that matters.

The most difficult challenge that I have overcome was making new friends in a foreign country when I was a child. My father sent me to my aunt's house, which was in New Zealand when I was 11. I was the only Asian kid in the class. I couldn't fit in since other kids and I couldn't understand each other. Some kids even teased me about what I packed for lunch. Moreover, I was too shy and timid to be brave and take courage to go talk to the other kids. Whenever there was a chance to talk to them, I just stood there hoping the other kids would talk to me first. I hated tea time since no one spoke to me. However, one day, I had the courage to speak up and did my best to get along with the others. I tried to laugh harder and speak louder and pay more attention. Finally, the other kids opened their minds and took me as their friend. In sum, when you are a kid, friends are the most important thing in the world, but I had trouble making some because of my different culture and my shy personality. However, I finally gained some courage and made friends in this completely new environment.

The hardest challenge of my life was facing a dog directly. At that time, I was a 16-year-old middle school student, and I had friends raising their own dogs. One day, one of the friends asked me to visit her house. Even though I knew the fact she had a dog, I accepted it because I loved to play with her. Of course, I was really concerned about her dog. She said her dog is very sweet and calm. But it was not enough for me to understand her dog was not harmful to me. Before that appointment, I got easily frightened while seeing dogs. Since I was bitten by a dog bigger than me, it was painful to me to face dogs and their teeth. However, it was me who made an appointment without hesitation. After school was over, we went to her house. I was afraid to meet her dog, and she waited for me patiently. I appreciated her from the bottom of my heart. When I became calm, she opened the door. A cute white dog came out and met us. I thought I have to be brave. I touched the dog's fur. It was so fluffy. While doing that, it didn't bark. My friend was right about her dog. So, I thought it would be good if I can face dogs comfortably. After that day, I still do my best while facing them.

What will happen tomorrow and even in the next 10 minutes is unpredictable. We can easily face challenges to overcome in our daily lives. I want to talk about a meaningful challenge and how I overcame this challenge. Back in 2016, I was the class president of our high school. Every year, our school held a festival in August. There was a tradition that our school held the festival with our neighboring girls' high school. However, the girls' high school planned their festival in September. Both student councils and school principals had a meeting on the first Friday of May. This is when the problem began. Our school was holding a soccer competition and my class was headed to the finals. Unfortunately, the finals was on the same day and at the same time of the meeting. As I was the key player on our team, it was evident that our team could lose in the finals. I am still surprised how shocked I was when I found out the soccer finals schedule. It was a dilemma to choose between my role as the class president and a star player on our soccer team. Instead, I chose to go to the meeting and miss the match. Some freshmen I know heard about my absence and changed their final schedule with ours. I was able to both solve the festival and win the finals. I learned when I am responsible for my job people will give me a hand to help.

The most memorable challenge that I have faced and overcome is working as a leader in a group. I worked as the vice president of my department from January 1st to about a week ago. I have faced many unpredictable hardships during this working duration. Three hardships that I overcame are making student council, solving human relationship problems, and handling accidents during department events. First, making a student council was very difficult task because not enough people wanted to work as a student council. I needed to persuade some people, and I put my whole effort into it. During this process, I realized that it is essential to explain many good and desirable aspects in a logical way when I tried to persuade someone. Consequently, I made the student council successfully. And in relationship problems, I really tried to give sympathy and empathy to people who have trouble and understood their mind from their perspective. That made many relationships somewhat settled. Third, about handling accidents during events, I strived to keep my spirit, not distracted by many accidents. I always said to myself, "Keep calm and do your thing. Don't crack under pressure." I could handle many events successfully in this process of mental care. Through these hardships, I could learn many lessons about persuading people, solving human relationship problems, and concentrating in events under lots of pressure. It was my precious experience and I never regret about spending this whole year as vice-president.

I have an experience in which I changed my complaints about my illness into effort by looking around. When I was in 6th grade, I learned a way to check whether my spine was curved. I told my mom about it and this was when we found out that my spine was curved. I got an x-ray and discovered that my spine was curved into s-shape. For a few months, I was always stressed. I complained as if I were the only one in the world who had a curved spine. I was angry that I had to wear a hard vest to school and go to the clinic to exercise almost every day. However, I was able to change my thoughts when I saw what were different from my thoughts. When I went to the clinic there were many people who were about my age and even younger, and they were laughing while getting the treatment. Moreover, I found out that I was lucky, as my spine could return to its natural straight shape if I exercised. I realized that there was no reason to complain about my situation, and since then, I made up my mind to exercise regularly to get my spine into shape. Through this experience of seeing what was different from my thoughts, I learned that all I need to do when in despair is to lift my head up, as what I thought as a challenge may be a change.

My life was not straightforward. However, I tried hard to overcome my difficulties. First, because my family was not rich it was difficult for me to catch up with my friends in studying. I wanted to be the best in mathematics, but unlike my friends, I didn't have enough money to afford a tutor. However, I didn't give up and studied harder than any of my friends. Thanks to my diligence, I was able to enter Dongguk University on a scholarship. Second, because I had negative thoughts I didn't have many friends. I was a self-centered person. I thought I needed to be egoistic to succeed. However, I recognized that success is meaningless if I don't have any friends who congratulate, worry about and care for me. I changed my mind and did my best to listen to my friends' advice. I wanted to be a positive person and make my friends feel good. Now, my friends love me and I love them so much, too. Finally, I overcame difficulties in having a job. I wanted to be a government employee, because I wanted to work for people. But in Korea, it is not easy to pass the exam. However, I did my best, as always, and I passed the exam. I think we can be much better people when we think optimistically. Let's say to ourselves, "I can do it!"

My Ideal Winter Vacation to Get a Job

Students should spend their vacation by preparing for their future job. Therefore, they have to do something useful during their winter vacation. Every student has their own plans for their ideal winter vacation. In my case, I think getting experience which is helpful to get a future job is most important. For my ideal winter vacation, I will study English to get a better grade on the TOEIC test this month. Companies want people who have a high grade on TOEIC tests so it will be useful for me. I think working as an intern at the company is the best experience. Working as an intern, I can learn how to work well, what is needed to work well and how to treat other people. Actually, I worked at a cosmetic company as an intern last year. Working in there, I learned so many things and met many good people. This experience will be very useful when I try to get a job. Therefore, getting a better grade on the TOEIC test and working as an intern are my plans for my ideal winter vacation and this experience will be helpful to get a future job.

We greet winter annually. Winter is meaningful in that New Year is coming. Do you have any plan during winter vacation? I think that doing self-improvement during winter vacation is ideal. How we can do this? First, review last year. Thinking about what I did last year helps to prepare for next semester. For example, I learned about basic Chinese this year, so maybe I am going to learn about Chinese conversation. Furthermore, go trip to any other country. If I make plan myself and enjoy it, I will get a lot of knowledge. I went to Bangkok with my family in 2017 and I could experience new culture of other country. Lastly, make your hobby and do it. It can be drawing a person or learning about other country's language. To enjoy your hobby improve quality of your life. I will make various desserts at home. We can do everything during winter vacation because we have enough time. However, especially if you have some time for you like reviewing, traveling and doing hobby, you can get an ideal winter vacation.

My ideal for this winter vacation is developing myself for several ways. First, I will exercise every day for diet. Nowadays, I became heavier than last year. Therefore, I will exercise for my health. Second, I will study for certificate. My goal is lawyer, so I study a lot. Next year, I will be third grade, so it's time to start studying. If I delay to start studying, I will not be a lawyer in senior. So I must study hard during this winter vacation rather than delaying. Third, I will work and get some money. In vacation, I have a lot of free times, so I will use that time to work. If I do not have a job in this vacation, I will be poor next semester. And, if I have no schedule in free times, I will lose control about myself in free times. Then, the winter vacation won't be meaningful time. Therefore, my ideal for this winter vacation is developing myself through exercising, studying, and working. I hope to be a better person than yesterday. Thank you for reading.

I have been really keen on starting this winter vacation during the 2019-20 semester. I remember that I spent the term of the summer vacation inefficiently, so this time, I was determined that I will have a precious and fantastic vacation. For achieving this, first of all, I will start this winter vacation with a happy trip with my friends. During the semester, I could not travel anywhere, so I really wanted to go on a trip leisurely. Actually, I already booked all the train tickets and hotels for accommodation last week, so I think the beginning of the fantastic vacation is here now. Then, I will try to live on a regular basis and to manage the study of each subject for the next term systematically; what I want to study is TOEIC, biology, and programming. If I didn't do anything when this winter vacation ended, it would be like a bolt out of the blue for me, because there is no change from the last summer. Therefore, I sincerely hope that I can manage this vacation well and have a nice vacation like a dream.

I have four plans for enjoying my winter vacation, and three plans for developing myself. To enjoy my winter vacation, I am going to go to a Christmas festival, go to my hometown, travel Vietnam, and go camping. To develop myself, I am going to preview my major, do a part-time job, and be a teacher at Korean school for various country friends. I wish that my boyfriend and I enjoy Christmas week with delicious foods, beautiful festivals, and presents. Then, I wish that I have memorable time traveling Vietnam with my friends. Furthermore, it has been a long time that I couldn't meet my family, so I want to go to my hometown, and spend happy time with my family. Moreover, I wish for a fun camping with my campus friends. We are going to see the stars with a camp fire, eat delicious foods, and have deep conversations with each other. To develop myself, I am going to study my major with my sister. Furthermore, I am going to earn money by working a part-time job at a sushi restaurant. Last, I will be a teacher at Korean school, Haram, and volunteer for various country friends.

After the busy life of a semester, winter vacation comes. The period of winter vacation is so long that it's important to spend meaningful time during vacation. In a university student's perspective, there are several ways to satisfy an ideal winter vacation. First, I can spend time studying English. It could be for preparing exams like TOEIC and TEPS or for enhancing my speaking skills. Second, I think taking a trip abroad will be good experience for me. If I go abroad, I can meet various people and appreciate magnificent scenes. With this experience, I can broaden my view and take a rest at beautiful places. Third, I believe that a part-time job will help me not only earn money but also be an independent person in society. By doing a part-time job, I can realize the importance of money and learn how to communicate with new people. It means that I can grow up socially as an adult. Everyone is placed in different situations, so there is no answer to spending an ideal winter vacation. However, our winter vacation is so precious. This statement will argue that my ideal winter vacation is not only meeting friends or playing games, but also preparing for the future. First of all, I should exercise more than 30 minutes every day. My father and friends always state that you are thin and weak, so exercise is necessary for health. I am planning to go to the gym for more than 30 minutes every day because I agree with them. The second thing is studying English and economics. This is essential for my future university life because of my major, international trade. I have been really shocked that professors have notified my English or economics grades. It is very dangerous situation for my future. Therefore, I will make the goals which are to acquire TOEIC score of 700, and be qualified as a certified international trader. Finally, I have to get a part-time job. Most of my friends experienced part-time jobs, but I have not experienced part-time jobs because I have enough money. However, part-time job is a nice experience for preparing for society that I must meet in future. Therefore, I will search for good part-time jobs which will help for me. As I stated, I have argued that my ideal winter vacation is not only meeting friends or playing games, but also preparing for the future. I really hope that these plans are fulfilled.

All classes are over and university students get free time. They can study more by attending additional classes or can take a rest by doing things they want to do. There are various ways to enjoy free time but I think an ideal winter vacation is to experience new things. Students can't get opportunities easily to experience new things because they don't have enough time during semester. Therefore, they go out and do things they have not done during vacation. Traveling is a typical way to experience new things because you can exit daily life. If you travel abroad, you can not only take a rest but also learn different perspectives about the world. Eating delicious food and watching nice sceneries will make you feel happy and comfortable. To experience traditional things and to meet people in each countries will make you learn their cultures and about the people. Even though you make a mistake, it will be a good memory in future. Therefore, I recommend and wish university students experience new things like traveling abroad and enjoy their free time happily for themselves.

It is not only helpful for finding a job, but also helps me to get useful skills. Hence, I will study and get a driving license and a computer skills license. It must be useful for me. Furthermore, I hope to test my limitations, so I will learn an extreme sport. By making an extremely hard work, we can feel free and make ourselves special. I am going to challenge my ability, overcoming my fears. It will make me grow mentally. Meanwhile, it is necessary to improve social experiences. That means, I will do a part-time job to learn the society during the vacation. In working place, we can meet many kind of people. It is a mirror of our future society and work. Therefore, I can get some skills which are necessary for social life. Above statements are my ideal vacation and plans. It's been a year as a freshman in Dongguk University. Sometimes I realize and am surprised by how spending a year in a completely new environment turned an immature teenager into a self-reflecting being. There are three things that I love and appreciate at Dongguk University. The first is club activities. There are so many diverse clubs that interest me. Being in a club with loads of people who have the same interest as I do is such an amazing experience. Also I can do some memorable and profound activities like having a concert in a rock band, publishing my own comics or even doing academic research. Second is motivating lectures. I attended a lecture called "Creative Engineering Designing", where I was given an Arduino machine and a bunch of sensors and motors to use. Trying to make the whole thing work really improved me as an engineering student. Third is different kinds of people with so many different charms. Meeting those people through diverse occasions and getting to find and appreciate their virtues helped someone like me who used to be stiff and unconfident learn how to socialize and become a mature being. Looking back at 2019 in Dongguk University brings me so many good memories that helped me grow up as an adult.

Dongguk University was established long ago and it has tried to give students a better education. There are some reasons why I think Dongguk University is the best place to study. First, Dongguk University is located in the middle of Seoul, South Korea. It is comfortable to go everywhere because there are a lot of convenient transportation such as bus, metro or even bicycles. Next, Dongguk University has a long history but it always tries to be a pioneer of university. For example, Dongguk University has many old traditional major like law or philosophy. But the school makes some new majors like biomedical engineering to give students a lot of chances to learn in a rapidly changing world. Dongguk University even has established Bio Campus in Ilsan. My last favorite thing about my university is student activities. There are lots of student activities in a major, college or even whole university. The main reason is that some activities like discussion CA, writing CA, etc. have existed for a long time, but some new things like street dance, feminism club were established because of students' needs and the university's approval. I think these activities helped students to be better people. For these three reasons, I am very proud of being Dongguk University student.

I like our school, Dongguk University because Dongguk University has many good things. First, our school is nearby Chungmuro subway station. It means that we can go anywhere by subway after school. Also there are many great restaurants and cinemas we can go to easily. For example, we can go to the cinema after school and go to restaurants with friends without going far from school. Next, our school has various and excellent students. Most Dongguk University students are very kind. Also, there are many foreign students in Dongguk University. Through these kind and various friends, I can learn many good things and make many good friends. Finally, our school is located at the Namsan Mountain. This mountain makes fresh air all the time and this fresh air makes us healthy. Moreover, we should climb the mountain always because of our school's location. The fresh air and climbing the mountains make us stronger. These above reasons make me love my school. Because it is located in the center of Seoul, I can see the beautiful scenery of Seoul from the top of the library garden. Finally, my most favorite thing is that I can experience foreign cultures more easily, because there are many international students. For example, I met a Chinese student in my EAS class and I had many chances to communicate with him. While talking to each other, I could learn about Chinese culture. Although it was just small talk, I think it was very meaningful. These are my favorite things about our school. I am so glad that I can make wonderful memories at Dongguk University.

My Lovely Dongguk University

I took the "Suneung", an exam for university in Korea, in 2019. After the "2019 Suneung", I was happy because I can go to Dongguk University. There are some reasons why I like Dongguk University. First, Dongguk University has a great history. Dongguk University started from a little school. Now, it is a big university. I love Dongguk University's cool history. Second, I love temples in Dongguk University. The temple was built by "Han-ok" style and it's so cool. Third, the cats live in Dongguk University are one of my favorite things at Dongguk University. Many cats that live in Dongguk University are so cute. Furthermore, they don't attack people and we can pat them on their head. Dongguk University is one of the famous universities. There are three things I love about Dongguk University. First, our school is in the center of Seoul. We can go anywhere in Seoul. If you want to go to the Han River, it will only take you 40 minutes. It is a big merit for students who want to enjoy afterschool activities. Next, the school has many restaurants and stores. These restaurants are for students. So the price is relatively cheaper than others. And Dongguk's restaurants are known for their delicious food. It is one of the prides for Dongguk to me. Specially, "Chaesikdang" in Sangnokwon is a restaurant for vegetarians. Perhaps, our school is a unique school to have a vegetarian restaurant. Finally, Dongguk University has many study rooms. In each building there are study rooms for students. If you have extra time before the next class, you can go there and study, sleep and play smart phone games! Unless you make noise, you can spend time in study rooms. There are managers to clean the rooms and manage students, so we can enjoy this service more easily. First, I like Dongguk University's building and views. These building are very unique and ethnic. For example, Myeong-jin gwan's design is very traditional. It's the oldest building in our school. And the view is very beautiful. When you stand on the Pal-gak jeong, you can see Namsan Tower's lights. Second, Dongguk University is located in the middle of Seoul and we can go anywhere by subway, bus, and so on. Then once you walk for only a few minutes, you can arrive at Chungmuro station or Dongguk University station. It takes about 30 minutes to go to Hong-ik University station and 50 minutes to Olympic Hall. It is pretty close! Finally, I like Dongguk University's Lantern Festival. On Buddha's day, our school celebrates Buddha and they hang lanterns in our school. The lantern's shape is like a flower, it is so beautiful. At night, people turn on the lanterns and they are shining brightly. These are my favorite things about my school. For these reasons, I love my school.
